Commissioners OK '58 General Expense Totaling $351,566

The Board of Fayette County Commissioners has completed its appropriations for 1958 for all those departments of county government over which it exercises actual fiscal control.

The total of the county's general fund appropriations for 1958 is $351,566.85. For 1957 the general fund totals amounted to $341,692.19.

The increase for the present year, according to County Auditor Harry R. Allen and county commissioners, reflects only rising costs for necessary operations in various departments with very little difference in annual costs shown by most of them.

One of the heavier increases was Juvenile Court costs in connection

Highway Costs Up $10 Billion

No Building Slowdown Seen by Federal Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks reported to Congress today that the estimated cost of completing the nation's 41,000-mile superhighway network has jumped $10 billion.

Nevertheless, he recommended that new apportionments to the states be based on the higher cost figures. But the secretary said that even though the cost estimates were up 37 per cent as compared with two years ago, he would not now recommend any increased taxes to finance the program.

He estimated the interstate system of expressways linking all parts of the country would cost $37,622,000,000.

This compares with the $27,645,000,000 figure used when the superhighway law was passed 19 months ago.

The estimated cost of completing superhighways in Ohio now is $2,316,512,000, compared with a 1956 estimate of $1,613,624,000, Weeks reported. The estimates include federal and state funds.

THE 1956 LAW provided that apportionment of federal funds to the states for the last 10 years of the program be based on the estimated cost of each state's portion. Washington pays 90 per cent of the cost of interstate roads.

The apportionments in the first three years of the program now under way were based on an old formula using chiefly population and current road mileage.

Weeks listed as reasons for the big increase in the cost of completing the interstate network:

1. A 15 per cent increase in traffic forecasts for 1975.
2. A 15 per cent boost in costs required by the section of the 1956 law which states that the interstate routes must give full consideration to local needs, such as peak commuter traffic in suburban areas and cities.
3. A 12 per cent increase in construction costs.

More Lawlessness --- or More Vigilance?

Police Arrests Up 178 in 1957

Were Washington C. H. people more lawless in 1957?

Or were police more vigilant? You can take your choice on that. But it has to be one or the other, because police made 178 more arrests in 1957 than they did in 1956, according to Chief D. Valden Long's annual summary.

General motor vehicle violations put 937 names on city books, with drunken driving, a separate category, adding 60 more.

The DWI count was down from the previous year, when 74 arrests were made on that charge. Arrests for intoxication in general jumped from 156 to 170.

ARRESTS for disorderly conduct numbered 50 during 1957, while citations for "miscellaneous" offenses, running the gamut from defective brakes to possession of marijuana, brought in 87 people.

France Asked To Check on U. S. Jet Pilot

PARIS (AP)—The U. S. Embassy today asked France to get information on an Air Force jet pilot forced down in Communist Albania.

The pilot apparently is Maj. Howard J. B. Curran of Pratt, Kan., who disappeared Dec. 23 in a T33 jet trainer on a flight from Chateauroux, France, to Naples.

The United States has no diplomatic relations with the Soviet satellite on the Adriatic, but France has a legation there.

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said so far the American Embassy had asked only for information on the jet pilot and his plane, not for the French to take action to secure his release. The Americans apparently were waiting for confirmation of his identity and to learn the circumstances of his downing.

Radio Tirana in Albania said Albanian jet fighters forced down a U. S. T33 which trespassed on Albanian territory. It added that the plane came from the direction of the Greek border, and was headed toward Tirana.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—One week after his Israeli government resigned because of a breach of Cabinet secrecy, Premier David Ben-Gurion and the same five political parties were back in office today.

The new government won a confidence vote from Parliament Tuesday night 76-33 after Ben-Gurion expressed certainty that secrecy would not be broken again.

PARIS (AP)—NATO's Permanent Council today recommended that Western Germany continue support payments for British troops in Europe.

West Germany had asked Britain to drop her demand for continuation of these payments of 50 million pounds—40 million dollars—a year. Britain refused to do so and took the case to NATO.

The recommendation now goes to the two governments for final settlement.

DIJON, France (AP)—Jules Roccas, sacristan at St. Michale's Church, cried "miracle" and ran for the priest Tuesday night when he heard a baby crying from the Christmas model of the stable at Bethlehem.

The priest found a baby girl between models of a cow and an ox in the star-decorated stable. After baptizing her Noelle, he called the police.

The baby believed about 10 days old, was sent to an institution while efforts were made to trace the mother who had abandoned her.

Gavin Sticking To His Decision

General Tells Senators He Plans To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Army research chief, told senators today that his decision to retire March 31 is "final" despite Pentagon offers of choice assignments and promotion to four-star rank.

"I can do better for the Army outside than in," Gavin said in stating his position to a closed session of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

Afterward, Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) indicated he had received the impression that Gavin was chiefly unhappy about what he felt were insufficient funds for Army research.

"He isn't interested primarily in a promotion," Jackson said. "He knows he could not with integrity defend this year's Army budget for research and development."

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) said Gavin spent much time testifying to the superiority of the Soviet's ground forces, both in numbers and weapons.

WHILE THE U. S. Army has been cut back funds and manpower to some 15 divisions, Symington quoted Gavin, the Soviet has 175 modern divisions of ground troops, many of them mechanized and equipped with modern weapons.

In advance of the hearing, two senators, Stennis (D-Miss.) and Goldwater (R-Ariz.) urged the general to reconsider. Several other members of Congress have made similar statements.

Secretary of the Army Brucker said Gavin had been offered two ways in which he could reach four-star rank as an inducement to remain in service.

$2,009 Paid Ike for Not Growing Grain

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today President Eisenhower's farm at Gettysburg, Pa., received soil bank payments of $2,009.60 for not growing corn and wheat in the last two years.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said the farm also got federal payments for conservation practices.

Department of Agriculture officials were quoted as saying the conservation payments were "well under" the $1,500 limit permitted for any farm.

The Times story also said the soil bank payments were made under the acreage-reserve phase of the multimillion-dollar plan authorized in 1956 and aimed at reducing production of major surplus crops, including corn, wheat, cotton, rice and tobacco.

The payments to the Eisenhower farm were shown in records of the Agriculture Department's Commodity Stabilization Service, in Adams County, Pa.

Eisenhower's name does not appear on the office records. Dealings of the office are through George Allen, a friend of the President's farm operations.

Florida Forecast; Snow Flurries

MIAMI (AP)—Snow fell in many north and central Florida towns today and the forecast included snow flurries for the first time in the state's history.

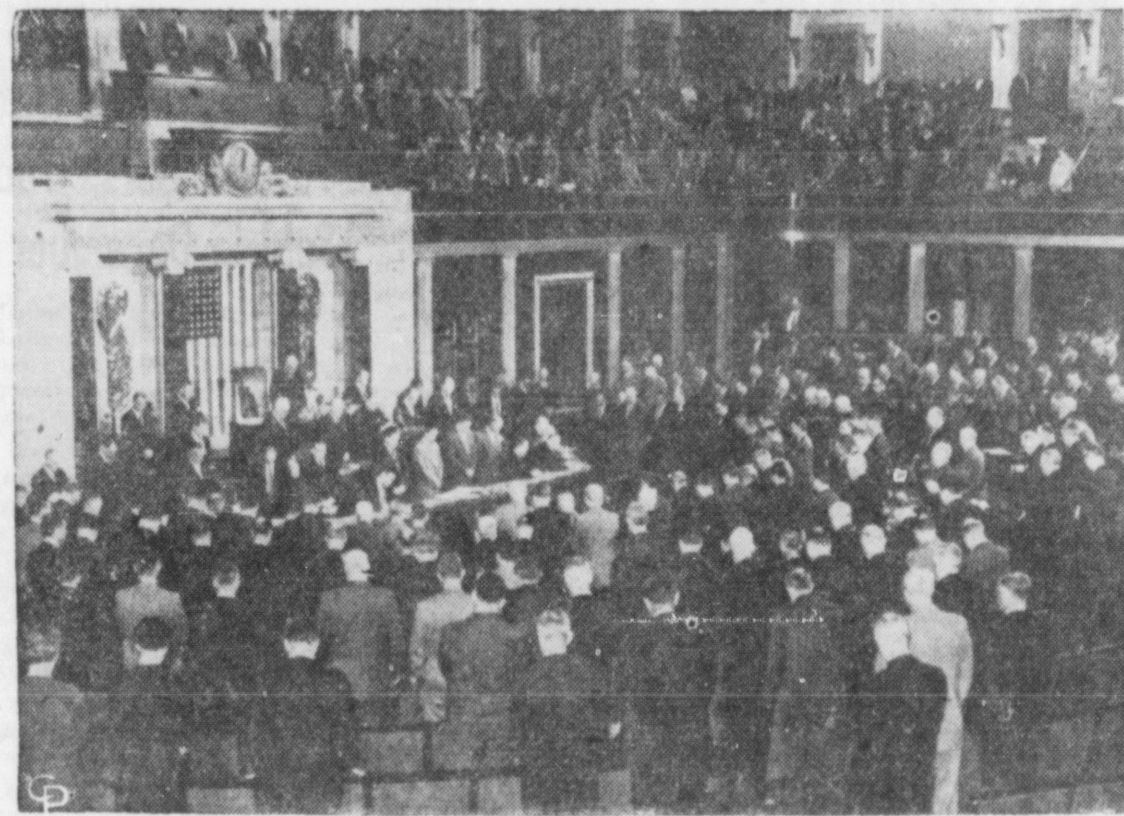

There was enough snow at Blountstown in northwest Florida for children to make snowballs, but in most places the flakes were melting as fast as they fell.

Snow was reported as far south as Lakeland in central Florida.

Temperatures plunged into the mid 20s in north Florida and colder weather was predicted for the entire state tonight.

Hard-Hitting Talk Coming from Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was described by a high government official today as ready to back his request for new missile and air defense funds with a hard-hitting message to Congress.

This official, who has seen advance drafts of the State of the Union address Eisenhower will deliver in person Thursday, said, "This is not a message of platitudes or complacency."

"The President intends to tackle the major problems head-on," he said. "It will be a vigorous message that we believe will have the approval of most members of Congress."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who heads a senatorial inquiry into the missile and satellite programs applauded Eisenhower's action in asking $1,260,000,000 of additional money to expand and accelerate the nation's defenses.

Johnson said he hopes Eisenhower follows up the move with "a call to arms" in addressing Congress.

Small Business Tax Aid Sought

Ohio Solon Confident Congress To Assist

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress heard urgent pleas today for tax relief for small business.

Spokesmen for regional and business groups told the House Ways and Means Committee in prepared testimony that federal tax burdens are proving too heavy for many businessmen to carry in a period of economic recession.

The committee, which started a tax revision inquiry Tuesday gave priority to the tax problems of small business in its scheduled five weeks of public hearings on changes in basic tax policy.

Rep. McCulloch (R-Ohio) said at the outset of the hearings that small businessmen stand a good chance of getting some tax relief from Congress this year.

The Ohioan said he feels there is sufficient sentiment in this direction to pass such a law.

SMALL BUSINESS was defined by McCulloch as any concern, including farms, employing 500 or fewer persons.

McCulloch said he is aware that the current approach in the Eisenhower administration is against reductions in taxes. But he said he takes that to mean across-the-board reductions in income taxes.

McCulloch wants a bill, similar to one he authored, that would make certain technical changes in the tax law giving small businessmen new benefits.

An example of this would be to allow inheritance taxes on a small business property to be paid in installments over a 10-year period.

Other proposed changes would be fast depreciation on used as well as new facilities and larger tax deductions on investments in small businesses that fail.

Winds Slow Test Firing Of ICBM

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Cold winds hitting a peak velocity of 30 miles an hour bothered Atlas crewmen today as they prepared one of the big intercontinental ballistic missiles for firing.

A shoot originally was scheduled for 10:30 a. m. (EST) but "holds" in the countdown normally would be called during unfavorable weather conditions.

The Weather Bureau said the winds are not expected to diminish until tonight. If so, they might force a postponement of the firing until Thursday. Winds of 30 m.p.h. could make the launching of a big rocket difficult.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen introduced about 225 new bills on the opening day of the new session.

The House clerk's office reported this was about normal for the start of a second session of Congress but enough to keep House assistants counting and numbering far into the night.

White House Request Gets Top Priority

Defense Secretary To Explain Need For $1,260,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy told the House Appropriations Committee today on the whole, our military position is sound but missile programs must be accelerated.

He testified behind closed doors as hearings started on President Eisenhower's emergency request for $1,260,000,000 in new defense funds.

Recent Soviet scientific and technological progress, McElroy told the committee, makes it both desirable and prudent to accelerate promptly programs outlined here today.

President Eisenhower requested the hurry-up supplemental appropriation Tuesday only a few hours after Congress had convened for its new session.

Chairman Mahon (D-Tex.) said he hoped to conclude the hearings within 10 days and have legislation ready for consideration by the House this month. The missile money bill is expected to be the first major legislation considered this year.

Mahon said "It is my feeling that Congress will quickly provide funds for the missile program."

HOUSE SPEAKER Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he favors appropriating "whatever amount of money is necessary" for defense programs.

Similar indications of quick, favorable consideration of the bill came from the Senate, where Republican Leader Knowland of California said, "The Senate Appropriations Committee will be able to give it consideration just as soon as the House acts."

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said, "There is no question but that Congress will promptly and sympathetically consider the President's request and act on it."

Senators Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Smathers (D-Fla.) were among others favoring prompt action, and Sen. Allott (R-Colo.) predicted that "in the mood it is in, Congress will appropriate more money for defense than can be spent intelligently."

The President asked for $219 million to speed up and expand construction of alert and dispersal facilities of the Strategic Air Force, $683 million to develop and procure long-range ballistic missiles and to build missile sites and missile-firing submarines; $329 million to establish a system for detecting and defending against enemy ballistic missiles, and $29 million to extend the semiautomatic ground environment system of defense communications.

In addition, Eisenhower asked for power to transfer $110 million in now available funds to expand the missile program and related defense projects.

Latest Crime: Grocery Cartnapping

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The grocery cartnaper is costing American food consumers and store owners millions of dollars annually.

A cartnaper?

He's the person who makes off with one of those four-wheeled carts used by the customer to haul groceries.

Southern California, which has some of the nation's largest grocery chains and supermarkets is the hardest hit.

Market owners in four California counties last year had $1,671,750 worth of carts stolen. The carts disappear at the rate of 1,000 a week. More than 55,000 carts were taken in the area last year.

One chain of 36 grocery stores said it lost an average of $6,000 worth a month. The carts cost about $30 each.

"Most of the carts are pushed away by our customers," one store detective said. "However, we've caught gangs of thieves who make a living peddling the carts (with the store names scratched off) to unethical merchants, junkyards and others."

Chuck Titus, past president of the California Food and Drug Special Agents Assn., said cartnapping is a serious problem.

"If we find some lady using a cart to carry her laundry to the clothesline, she tells us she found it parked in front of her

'Model' Boy, 16, Really a Killer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Nyls Andreason is the son of a civic leader and school principal in suburban Norwalk.

The youth is an Explorer Scout, attends church regularly and works after school in a supermarket for spending money.

A model boy?

A killer and a member of a teen-age gang of liquor store robbers, Sheriff's deputies Tuesday told his shocked father.

"This murder thing is so unbelievable I don't know what to say—it's so out of character," said the father, Nyls T. Andreason.

Officers said young Andreason, with his brother Aaron, 14, were members of a gang that took about $400 in three robberies.

In one, liquor store clerk Paul Robertson was fatally shot last Dec. 26.

In another two weeks earlier, a German shepherd watchdog was shot and finally had to be destroyed.

Deputies said young Nyls Andreason—wielding a .22-caliber revolver—was the trigger man on both jobs.

Returned to Los Angeles and booked on suspicion of murder.

First Aid Course Being Offered Here

A 10-hour course in first aid is being offered here to all adult leaders of all youth groups. Camp Fire Girls Council is the sponsor.

A short organization meeting will be held at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in the Farm Bureau auditorium. At this meeting, the group will determine how many lessons will be held to cover the 10-hour course and the dates, time and place for holding the classes. Mrs. Harford Hanks Jr., the chairman, said.

William Bailey, 126 Grand Ave., will be the instructor. Bailey was a field representative of the Red Cross in western Pennsylvania before he came to Washington C. H., and in that position was closely connected with the Red Cross first aid program.

Mrs. Hanks emphasized that the course is open to adult leaders and is not limited to those in the Camp Fire Girls program. She added that the Camp Fire Girls Council Committee had not had time to tell all the youth leaders about the course—principally, because not all of them are known—but that they will be "more than welcome" at the Thursday night meeting to help work out the details.

Former WCH Man Planning To Retire

A former Washington C. H. man is planning to retire after more than 40 years as a brakeman and conductor with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Earl Willis, who now lives in Lancaster, said he plans to spend his retirement years raising race horses. He already has a runner and two harness horses stabled at the Fairfield County Fairground. He also had a service station several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis, both natives of Washington C. H., have four children. A son, Robert Earl, is following his father's footsteps as an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Willis started as a railroader 53 years ago hauling water while track was being laid for the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad near Greenfield. He was a fireman on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad before going to the Pennsylvania.

His brother, Virgil Willis, lives at 702 Rose Ave. here. He also is interested in harness horses and has owned and trained them for many years.

Ike May Acquire New Jet Airplane

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may become the first President to fly aboard a jet transport plane.

The White House says Eisenhower has no present plans to replace his propeller-driven, four-engine plane, the Columbine III, with a faster jet.

But press secretary James C. Hagerty announced the Columbine pilot, Col. William G. Draper, and other key members of the crew will start learning to fly jet aircraft late this month.

Hagerty added there is a possibility the President will switch to a jet transport before his second term ends.

Wry Humor Used By Ike's Adviser

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. James R. Killian, President Eisenhower's scientific adviser, speaking to the Women's National Press Club, told about a young woman attending her first party in Washington.

By Killian's account she had a few drinks and then told the hostess: "I feel a lot more like I do now than when I came in."

The scientist-administrator said that is the best way "to explain how I feel after being in Washington for two months."

2 Factors Seen Bringing End To Recession

Optimists Counting On Military Spending Hike, Home Building Revival

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Two factors counted upon today by business optimists to help turn the tide of recession are increased military spending and a revival of home building.

Defense spending has already spurred upward without waiting for the Congress to act. And home builders see the easing in the money market as their best bet.

The questions now are: Will increased defense spending right now and a rush of contract awards that mean spending later on be enough to offset the decline in capital goods spending by industry? And will an easier mortgage market result in many new homes being started?

The shock of the American people of the Russian missiles quickly reversed the Pentagon's spending policies.

In April military spending reached a peak of 42 billion dollars at an annual rate. A wave of economy both in the Congress and the administration brought the annual rate below 37 billion in November. The shock of the Sputniks loosened the purse string again. In December the annual rate jumped to 40 billion—the same rate, incidentally, that Defense Secretary McElroy thinks will be set in the fiscal year to start next July.

A House group is starting hearings today aimed at seeing how much more money the United States should spend in catching up with the Russians.

Industry's spending on capital goods seems likely to slide this year by more than two billion. And recently its liquidation of inventories has been running at a five billion dollar clip.

The role that housing is to play in halting or easing the recession will become clearer when the weather turns better. Easier money and more lenient mortgage terms helped pull the economy out of the 1953-54 recession—in 1955 home building jumped to one and a third million units.

The money ease also helped spark the big surge of building of new industrial plants, commercial and office buildings that became a leading architect of good times.

Many in the construction industry hold that the same thing can happen again this year.

But the questions that others raise include:

How many non-home owners are left who can afford the new houses at their increased prices?

These are a few of the things that the optimists and pessimists debate as they watch the American economy take its first uncertain steps into 1958—with outer space adding a new uncertainty to those we were trying to learn to live with.

Asian Flu Epidemic Said Over in Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Asian Flu epidemic that struck Ohio several months ago apparently has ended, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director says.

Only 10 new influenza cases were reported throughout the state last week, he said.

At the height of the epidemic in mid-October, a total of 3,370 cases was reported in one week and numerous schools closed.

No influenza-related deaths have been reported during the last five days, but the number totaled 160 during the epidemic.

3 Women, Convicted Slayers, Slated for Paroles Feb. 20

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three women serving sentences for slayings will be paroled Feb. 20 from the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville.

They include 27-year-old Ada Davidson, who was only 17 when she pleaded guilty to a second-degree murder charge in connection with the beating death of Mrs. Edna Adkins in Butler County on Aug. 21, 1947.

Clifford Gayles of Xenia was electrocuted for his part in the slaying of Mrs. Adkins. The Davidson girl and Gayles kidnaped Mrs. Adkins and her 10-year-old son, Paul, in the Adkins car near Middletown. When Ada said she wanted Mrs. Adkins' clothing, Gayles stripped it from her and handed it to Ada in the rear seat.

Later, Gayles shoved Mrs. Adkins out of the car, hit her over the head with a gun and also beat her son. Mrs. Adkins died and the son lived.

Gayles and Ada drove on and later Gayles stole a car from another motorist whom he beat.

Ada was indicted on a first-degree murder charge, but pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of second-degree murder. She entered the reformatory Dec. 9, 1947.

Pardon and Parole Commission records show that Gayles shot and invited her to shoot him if she thought she was a better shot. She did.

Carline Arthur, 22, serving a manslaughter sentence for the Nov. 6, 1955, fatal shooting of her common-law husband, Eddie Ferris, will be released on parole. She entered the reformatory from Cuyahoga County Jan. 26, 1956.

The commission granted paroles to 21 other inmates.

Golden-Voiced Illinois Solon Also Sports a 'Green Thumb'

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.), noted in the halls of Congress for his golden oratorical voice, also has a green thumb, according to his wife.

"He can put a stick in the ground and it will grow," Mrs. Dirksen told me. "I've never seen anything like it."

The powerful middle westerner who is expected to take over the Republican leadership of the Senate when Sen. William F. Knowland bows out to run for governor of California, has been "putting things in the ground" every spare moment in recent months.

The senatorial green thumb is exercising its talents on the three-acre property at Sterling, Va., on the Potomac River, which the Dirksens are readying as a weekend and holiday Shangri-la.

Since last fall, when building started on an attractive ranch-style house on the property, the couple have been directing their activities from a rented trailer where they often stay over night in good weather.

Dirksen first came to the capital in March 1933, when he was elected to the 73rd Congress. He served in each succeeding Congress until he voluntarily retired in April 1950 to run for the Senate. He was elected to the upper house in November 1950. Currently the Dirksens are living in an apartment hotel and maintaining their rambling old residence in their home town of Pekin, Ill.

Dirksen, according to his wife, is landscaping his Virginia acres so that by next spring, when their house is finished, the place will be in full bloom.

Is Our Modern Education Doing A Good Job?

Not only throughout Fayette County, but probably in nearly every locality in our broad land, education is in the spotlight, due to rising costs and questions as to whether the public is getting its money's worth in real accomplishment in this field.

Regardless of what one thinks as to whether schools are doing better or worse than they once did, most modern out-spoken educators seem convinced of one thing — schools must get better if our nation hopes to become secure in a claim to be the creative and intellectual leader of the world.

Critics in the country today, and that includes many people connected with the schools as well as others, long have been rebelling at what they describe as "the pudding" some schools serve in the guise of "progressive education, social awareness and life adjustment." They assert a change back to better educational principles is long overdue.

Some educators contend that, fortunately, most schools have started a swing back to sound academic learning. In some instances the harsh words some schools use about themselves in their feeling over what they call the "Sputnik disappointment," indicate the swing will go farther still.

That the schools probably are ahead of the public in some respects, perhaps is to their credit. However, in recent years, there are educational institutions which admit that they changed and distorted some of the ideas of substantial educational authorities; quite a number are said to have taken pride in uttering such pious cliches as "We teach boys and girls, not subjects."

The thinking public however, has become strongly urgent in insisting that our teachers and educators cease teaching for mediocrity, because it is easier. There must be strong stimulating thought toward accomplishment to meet the needs for all types of students and pupils. There is much openly expressed opinion from thoughtful observers that teachers and school administrators, cannot simultaneously constantly seek higher professional status and much greater pay schedules with shorter hours and more limited work at the same time.

Schools may try to work out this problem for themselves, but also a big change must come in the homes of many of the pupils and students. There are a great many physically able parents who also demand, shorter work hours and higher pay, along with riding in big cars and ample time for watching television day and night.

More people than the average person estimates, are inclined to "laugh off" the idea of work for the joy of accomplishment, or giving the necessary time and effort with the rewarding thought of being justified in genuine pride in their jobs or craftsmanship.

Antarctica Breeds Own Humor

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (U)—Antarctica has its own brand of humor. It seems to be part Navy, part IGY and part ice-age foxy. Here are some of the more presentable samples:

A visiting explorer got into a conversation with a scuttiebutt artist and was told that McMurdo Sound and other Antarctic stations would go on daylight saving time the following midnight. The informant advised the explorer to set his watch an hour ahead immediately. The explorer took this as gospel and started spreading the word even though right now Antarctica is the daylight savingest part of the world. Since last October it has had continuous daylight and will keep on having it until late February.

When people back home ask returning "old explorers" what Antarctica is like, they have a stock answer, first used by chief Seabee tractor driver "Tex" Gardner of Las Cruces, N. M., in blazing a trail across one of the continent's most desolate stretches:

"Hang a bedsheet on the wall and stare at it for 12 hours."

The most dangerous animal in Antarctica is the snow toad. It is all white, lives in only the whitest snow and is pictured by artists in white crayon on white paper. It is "upposed to have fun by snatching at the feet of human beings, causing them to fall or by stealing mittens and other articles vital to comfort. The only protection against it is a strip of verise colored reflecting cloth which supposedly blinds it and prevents it from

Our Debased Standards

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, year by year, issues a report on crime in the United States, and one year is worse than the other.

The year 1957 shows the usual increase; in fact it is the all-time high year for crime, 2,756,000 major crimes having been committed. The largest increases reported are in what are called Crimes against property namely, robbery, burglary, larceny and auto thefts. This is an inaccurate designation because not property but persons are robbed.

The loss, the heartache, the inconveniences involve people not properly.

Crimes "against property" are normal in conditions of poverty such as do not exist in the United States where it is still possible, even in a period of economic readjustment, to earn a living wage if one will work. The crimes are not committed out of desperation.

Most criminal activities in the United States are wilful; youngsters form gangs to go robbing, to steal automobiles, to be big shots before they are even little shots.

Crime, in the United States, is a reflex to immorality just as our sex problem are reflexes to immorality to an abandonment of the basic moral and ethical standards of our society.

This is a big problem that is variously answered. Some liberal sociologists would solve it all by improving environmental conditions, but it has been established by police records in New York that gangs develop in the new housing projects despite the improved environmental conditions.

In a word, experience in new housing developments in a city like New York shows the mere physical improvement of an environment will not make for righteous living if the home life is inadequate, if moral values are not inculcated in the young in the home, the school and the church. Palaces without morals will not produce moral persons.

The juvenile gang, our main source of criminal training, is on the increase and includes girls as well as boys. Robberies and auto-thefts in time lead to murder, but the most shocking increase in crime is crimes against parents, including the killing of parents in fits of anger.

A boy is now in the hands of the police for having shot and killed his mother because she objected to his tying up the telephone by calls to his girl.

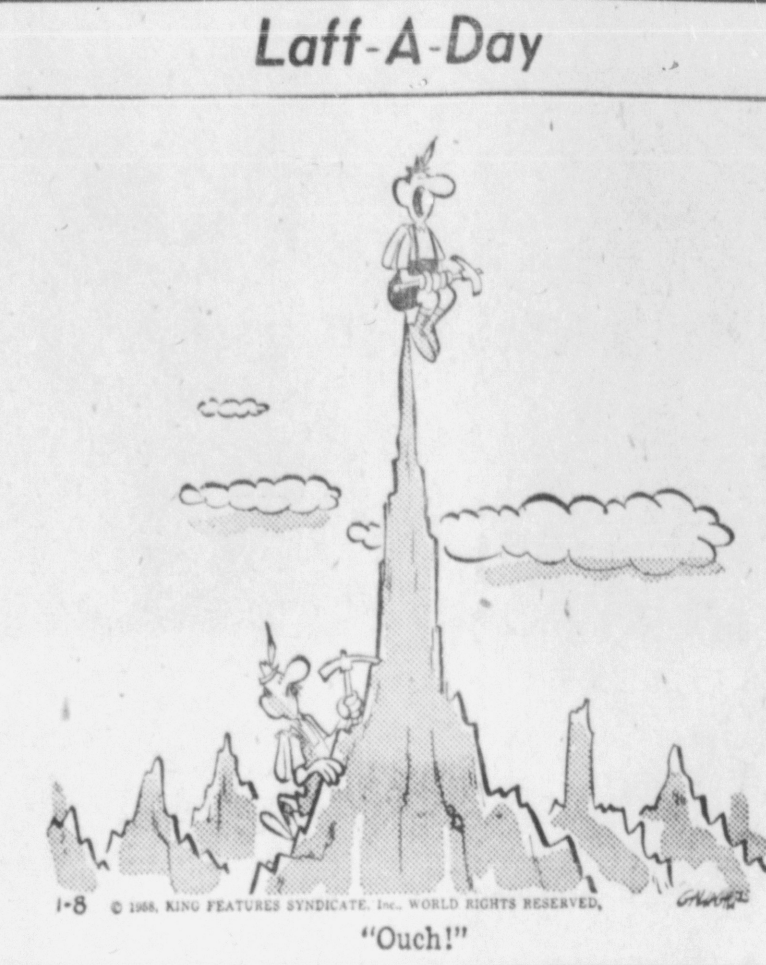

The brutality of this act has attracted no unusual attention. I have noted no such excitement as when Harry Thaw, a millionaire, shot Stanford White, an architect, over Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, a young lady who once earned her way by jumping out of a pie in the nude.

It is not the times that have changed; it is that we have grown callous. We accept outrages against society; as more or less normal because our standards have been debased.

In J. Edgar Hoover's report, it is stated that kidnapping convictions have increased by 20 per cent and that over 16,000 stolen automobiles moved across state lines were located by the FBI. It is as important to think about what we should do to straighten out these boys and girls who live by crime, undoubtedly because they enjoy living that way, as it is to produce more engineers and scientists.

Hoover praised the citizen who acts as an informant. He said:

"Through the efforts of FBI informants it has been possible

Diet and Health Ride to Work Gives You Chance To Relax

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST of you probably dread a long bus or train ride to work each morning. You really shouldn't because you can use that time to good advantage.

Whether you stand or sit, it will give you a chance to relax. It will, that is, if you heed these few suggestions.

If you are lucky enough to get a seat make sure you sit so your back rests against the back of the seat. Place both feet comfortably on the floor and let your hands rest easily in your lap.

Really Feel Relaxed

If you feel like dozing, fine, go ahead. You'll really feel relaxed then. If you prefer, you can read a newspaper, book or magazine. One important don't is—don't sit staring out of the window brooding about your problems or the work that awaits you at the office. This commuting time can be a real help to you if you use it properly.

You won't be able to fall asleep if you have to stand all the way to the office. But that doesn't mean you can't relax.

Distribute Weight

Stand on both feet with your weight evenly distributed between them. Don't stand on one foot and then the other thinking you are resting either. It just doesn't work that way. Relax your shoulders, draw in your tummy and lift your chest.

© 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Not only is this a healthy way to get to work, but it's an attractive one as well.

Now you can't forget your posture once you are in the office. Even if there is no one about to see you, you have to sit correctly to prevent that dragged-out feeling at the end of the day.

Firm Chair

Make sure your chair is a firm one. Adjust the height of the seat, if you can, so that it is the same as the length of your leg from the bottom of the heel to the back of the knee. Flex your knees and keep them at right angles.

Sit on the back of your thighs instead of the back of your spine. And hold your head and trunk erect with your body centered over your pelvis or tilted forward slightly.

There is a good health reason for all of this. Your blood circulation may slow down if you don't sit or stand properly. Your breathing will become shallow and your lungs won't be exercised properly.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. A.: I have severe migraine headaches during my menstrual periods. What treatment would you advise?

Answer: Injection of small doses of testosterone, or male hormones, about one or two weeks before the period, may help.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (U)—Forty years ago today President Wilson presented to Congress and the world his 14 points for ending World War I. They sounded noble. They wound up in ribbons when he got through compromising on them.

He went to the peace conference the ideal of the idealists. And one of the men whom he worked out the peace, cynical Georges Clemenceau of France, said of him: Talking to Wilson is like trying to talk to God.

Clemenceau was one of those who helped bring him down to earth. The others were David Lloyd George of Britain and Vittorio Orlando of Italy. Wilson went there with a minimum of selfish motives. They had plenty.

Although Wilson compromised, he forced the others into compromises too. So the peace was not as bad as it might have been. It was terrible enough. By its harsh treatment of Germany it helped to pave the way for Hitler and World War II.

Of all the 14 points the one which meant the most to Wilson was the last: his call for a League of Nations, with America a member. That one brought him his greatest grief and worst defeat.

The 14 points were not entirely idealistic. They were much less than they appeared to be when Col. Edward M. House, Wilson's confidential diplomatic agent, later explained them.

Yet they did serve an immediate propaganda purpose. Wilson had spread his ideas for a just peace through many long speeches. On Jan. 8, 1918, he wrapped his main points up in one speech, in one-two-three order.

The 14 points are too long to be given here. But some of them can be summarized, with what happened to them. Wilson called for:

1. An end to secret diplomacy. (But the Allies had worked out secret deals for dividing up Germany before this country got into the war. Wilson worked out the peace later behind closed doors

Most of the remaining points in effect called for carving up Europe into new states to dismember the German and Austro-Hungarian empires. This laid the groundwork for new dissensions.

The Republic... in Congress, led by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, fought Wilson. They insisted on some changes before this country could join the League. There was a possibility that if Wilson agreed to changes the Republican-led Senate might have approved.

But Wilson, who compromised on other points in Europe, refused to compromise on this one at home. In the end he lost both his dream and his health. America retreated into isolation for a generation.

If America had joined the League there might have been no World War II—maybe.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF—

SHOWMAN-WIT Abe Burrows, reports E. J. Kahn, Jr., had a Russian grandmother who never had uttered one word of English until—minutes before she breathed her last at the age of 87 — she noticed her grandson staring forlornly at her beside her death bed, and asked very clearly, "Why aren't you in school?"

Burrows says he won a reputation as a wit by simply sitting at a table with a bunch of Hollywood characters and admitting he came from Brooklyn. "All you have to do is mention the word 'Brooklyn' in movie circles," Abe explains, "and everybody laughs himself sick. Some people at the next table saw me convulsing my friends, and the word spread that I was a real card—a reputation I've been trying to live up to ever since!"

Down in Greenwich Village a young hostess popped up with a new gimmick for a party: "Come As You Were Before You Were Psychoanalyzed." They say nobody left till five in the morning!

It costs so little to protect your farm with automatic lighting from dusk to dawn!

A well-lighted farm is a safer farm... prowlers stay away from it! Enjoy that safety with center-pole lights that turn on automatically at dusk—and turn off automatically at dawn. The timer-clock that "minds" your lights is featured at a special low price right now by your electrical contractor. You can enjoy good farmyard lighting for as little as $1.35 worth of electricity a month. See your electrical contractor, or call DP&L for more information.

If you have no center pole, place lights on your barn. A corner position throws light on two sides of the barn.

Where is the peddler when you want your money back?

We hear that fast-talking peddlers are going through the neighborhood, selling vitamin preparations door-to-door. If you should buy and then be dissatisfied what could you do about it? Not a thing—peddlers change towns the way we change shoes. So it makes sense to do business with an established firm, here today and here tomorrow. Besides, a pharmacy is the only proper place to get vitamin preparations, many of which lose strength if handled or stored improperly.

Xi Beta Psi Chapter Meets With Mrs. Glass

Mrs. Ruth Glass entertained members of the Xi Beta Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Monday night.
 The opening ritual was given by Mrs. Eddie Sexton, president.
 During the business session reports were given by Mrs. Guy Brigg secretary, and Mrs. Glass, treasurer. It was decided by the members to distribute "Plastic Hearts" for the heart fund drive again this year.
 The cultural program was presented by Mrs. Richard Snyder, using as her topic "Writing." She gave two quotations—"reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man and writing an exact man," by Francis Bacon; and "the whole difference between construction and creation is exactly this, that a thing constructed can only be loved after it is constructed; but a thing created is loved before it exists," by G. K. Chesterton.
 Mrs. Snyder gave the history of writing, stating that the Egyptians were the first people to really write. Their writing was called "hieroglyphics" and each word had a character which stood for it. Then came the system used by the Babylonians called "cuneiform." From the Phoenicians the modern world got the alphabet of 22 letters and later added four more to make it 26.
 Mrs. Snyder also gave the definition of an outline. An outline, she said, is a summary of main topics and sub-topics of a general subject. An outline shows a general sketch or indication of a plan, a system or course of thought. She gave the difference between an outline and notes. She pointed out that an outline is more detail, notes are merely for reference. She also discussed creative writing.
 Mrs. Glass, assisted by Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Ray Jennings, served a delicious dessert course.

New Holland News

BY MRS. JAMES DOYLE

By MRS. JAMES DOYLE
NEW HOLLAND — The Clarksburg PTO sponsored a Community Party and 50-50 dance New Year's Eve from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. The crowd was beyond all expectations. Approximately 550 people were served at the 11 o'clock snack hour.

This is the fifth year for this project held at the Clarksburg High School gymnasium. The room was decorated with colored paper streamers and rows of ball. At 11 p. m. an intermission period was held. A light snack of sandwiches, potato chips, and cookies was served cafeteria style.

Everyone was given favors of hats, horns, and confetti.

At midnight the balloons were released from their position adding more enjoyment to the hour. The music for the dance was presented by the Rhythmic Orchestra from Ashville.

Willard Wood is president of the PTO this year. He had several committees working on this project.

The main idea of having the Community Party and dance was to provide a place for the young couples, teenagers and children to spend a pleasant New Year's Eve close to their homes. The Clarksburg PTO sponsored a Jack Sherk dancing course last winter.

This did not start out to be a money-making project but a way of entertaining the youths on New Year's Eve. It has grown bigger in attendance each year that a nice profit has been shown the past two years.

The admission is $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for children. It is figured that 15 cents per person is provided for favors and 35 cents per person for their snacks. The balance from their admission price is used for the expense of the orchestra.

THE NEW HOLLAND Lions Club met at the high school for its regular monthly meeting Thursday night. A delicious supper was served by the PTO.

Robert Bush presided over the meeting. He introduced the speaker, Roland Nauman, the district governor's secretary, who gave a brief talk on Lions Club education.

Nauman also introduced two new members into the organization — Clifford Lux and Everett Landman. These new members were sponsored by Lion Robert Lewis.

Clerics Urged To Form Union

Labor Leader Poses Idea at Church Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A labor union official has urged ministers to organize their own union. The suggestion was made Tuesday during the first national convocation of the new United Church of Christ.

Orville Jones of Columbus, a former Congregational Christian minister and now director of education and research for the Ohio CIO Council, made the suggestion before nearly 600 ministers and laymen attending the convocation on the problems of the city churches.

"Ministers ought to have a union," Jones said. "They would gain more respect and it would provide some procedure for airing grievances."

Earlier Tuesday, Dr. Purd E. Deitz of St. Louis, general secretary of the Board of National Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, said the spirit of loyalty to a congregation does little to spread the Christian movement.

He told delegates to the opening session of the three-day meeting the first convocation since last year's merger of the Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational Christian Churches.

"Our emphasis upon loyalty to the local congregation, which is fairly general in Protestantism, does not readily lead to the spread of the Christian movement. It encourages local growth and evangelism; it preserves and conserves many values in our churches. But a wider strategy of growth by division or evangelism by forming new nuclei is rather rare."

On the matter of rapid suburban development, Dr. Deitz declared: "If the three million persons added to our population each year were rather evenly distributed throughout the areas already covered by our churches, the problem of reaching them would not be so complicated."

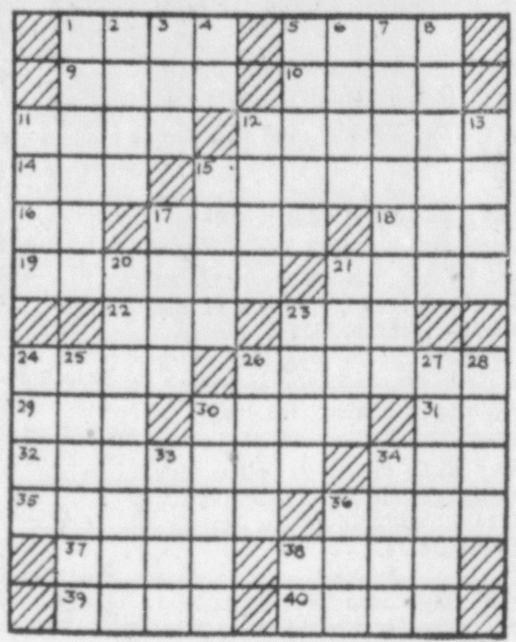

"But there is the other fact of increasing mobility in all sections of the country, making it necessary to reach new people in new communities. New housing units have been constructed at the rate of about a million each year, and most of these in expanding metropolitan centers."

Ohio National Guard Chiefs Needling Brass

Decision Is Sought On Future Cutbacks For State Militia

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber Ohio adjutant general and commander of the Ohio National Guard, joined other National Guard officials today in pressing the Army to make a decision on reorganization plans.

Chiefly, the guard officials want a decision on a hinted cutback in what they believe to be an already weak militia force.

"We've had to let out 600 men from the 37th Division because of the national cutback of 40,000 men ordered last May and June," Gen. Kreber said. "What can we say to young men after we've let a lot of effort in getting them into the Guard and then find out that we cannot use them?"

Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president of the National Guard Assn. of the United States, and adjutant general of Massachusetts, warned in Washington against further Guard cuts, saying: "This nation has a tremendous investment in its National Guard and any plans that would write-off any part of that investment would not be economically feasible or acceptable to the taxpayers."

Gen. Kreber said there is indication the Pentagon plans to reduce National Guard strength and build up reserve Army forces. "That is a very near-sighted approach," Gen. Kreber said, adding that the Army should not wait any longer with plans to reorganize the Guard along the new pentomic concept (five battle groups for better atomic battlefield employment rather than the three regiment structure).

Gen. Kreber said the present strength of the ONG, 13,000 to 14,000 troops, fits into the pentomic division organization which is about 2,000 men less than the triangular or regimental division. "We want to have the same or

Niles Gets Summons By Pollution Panel

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board has ordered the Niles mayor and city councilmen to appear Feb. 11 to show why the city's application for renewal of a sewage discharge permit should not be denied.

The city's permit expired last Dec. 15 and it had been issued on condition the city award contracts for building a sewage disposal plant. Plans for the plant have been approved and the city has been collecting a sewage charge to finance the plant.

This charge was cut in half last fall.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Probably no one knows the location, size, and other important information about the city's rather complex sewer system as well as David Hillery, who was street superintendent for 22 years, ending in 1944, and whose father, James Hillery, held the same position for upward of 40 years.

In January, 1945, he started work with the State Highway Department here and was county superintendent from April 1, 1949 to May 1, 1957, when he was replaced for political reasons.

Dave not only has known the location and size of the sewers, at least up to the time he took over other work with the State Highway Department, but has the only reliable map of the city's sewer system in existence.

This map was started and kept by his father during his long tenure as street commissioner, and then brought up to-date by Dave while he was head of the street department.

Because of the great many pencil notations on the map, probably no one could decipher all of it except Dave.

In a recent visit he told me many things about the city's sewers. One fact is there are two sewers on Market St. from Main St., westward, one of which is 17 feet deep and drains the Washington Hotel, where a former swimming pool was part of the YMCA plant, now the hotel.

Fayette St. has two sewers from Market St. to Paint Creek, and the Courthouse sewer runs under Main St. and the alley west of the Courthouse, to Paint Creek.

Nearly all of the early sewers, which are now part of the so-called "sanitary sewer" system, are nothing but drain tile, he said.

Many of the sewers follow the alleys, but some are under main streets, he declared.

The two large brick sewers, constructed 100 years or more ago, are two of the best sewers in the city, he declares.

Dave recalls that soon after he became street superintendent, water broke through the concrete floor of a residence on Broadway during a heavy rain, and when the flood subsided, he discovered that the house was standing over one of the big brick sewers, and that the sewer had been repaired by placing a set of 1911 auto license plates over the break, and applying cement.

The city had to lay a new concrete floor in the basement of the house.

KNOW YOUR DIRECTIONS?

It is somewhat amazing to know that many people are not aware of directions, and live all of their lives without knowing which direction is east, west, north and south, let alone the directions between these four points of the compass.

I know adults, who are well educated in most lines, who have never taken the time and thought to establish their directions.

I have found some who do not know that the sun "rises in the east and sets in the west", and who never saw the Great Dipper and North Star, or have the least idea how to figure directions by the sun or other means.

I believe people who grow up in the rural areas have a better sense of direction than those spending all their lives in cities, for they have a better view of the sun, when it arises, when it sets and throughout the day.

One of the early ways of knowing directions, taught when I was a youngster, was that if a person stand with his right arm pointing east, where the sun arises, and his left arm west, where it sets, the direction they face is north and behind them is south.

It's a very simple way of learning directions.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

A "short" in an electric power line near the canning plant greatly interfered with local radio transmission until workmen finally discovered the trouble.

Floyd Eichelberger was elected president of the Jeffersonville Farmers Institute following interesting sessions held in Jefferson Hall.

The Dayton - Chillicothe division of the B&O Railroad started gasoline coach service supplanting steam train service on the road.

The Washington Candy Co. was doubling facilities to greatly increase output. It was located in Dahl-Campbell block.

Rell G. Allen was named president of the Dutch Treat Club which met each Thursday at the YMCA for lunch and a get-together.

Police started rigid enforcement of traffic laws relating to traffic lights and two-hour parking.

A mysterious explosion which was never explained, startled hundreds of residents of the community.

Fred M. Mark was named safety service director for the city.

Thomas H. Craig Sr. was re-elected chairman of the Fayette County Red Cross Chapter.

Howard Fogle, who had been elected councilman when he was not a candidate, resigned and George Worrell was named to take his place.

Telegraph instruments were replaced with teletype machines in the Western Union office here.

During the previous year 282 marriage licenses were issued for each divorce granted in Fayette County.

Banks of the community held their elections, and the following men were named president of the various institutions: Fayette County Bank, James Ford, Midland National and Commercial Bank, M. S. Daugherty, president of both, Washington Savings Bank, George Jackson; P&D Bank, William H. Thornton; Farmers, Jeffersonville, New Holland, George Kirk; Milledgeville, R. H. Fichtorn.

'Slim Jim' Gavin Is Noted For Giving Pentagon Jolts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin — at 50 the Army's youngest three-star officer — gave the Pentagon a characteristic jolt when he announced plans to retire as chief of Army research and development.

The wiry, outspoken paratrooper of World War II has startled his superiors frequently.

"I won't compromise my principles and I won't go along with the Pentagon system," he said bluntly.

There was a flood of requests from congressmen that he reconsider his retirement plans. The general, who will be 51 in March and will have completed 30 years' service by then, heads the Army missile program.

"Slim Jim" Gavin's World War II career was spectacular. Since that time he has held various top planning positions. He is credited with being a major force behind the Defense Department decision to let the Army develop long-range missiles, and with helping organize the new pentomic divisions for atomic warfare.

Known as a studious man who is generally grave in manner, Gavin rarely raises his voice. His most effective tone is something close to a stage whisper.

But it is a whisper that often echoes far beyond his office, frequently jolting the Pentagon.

His latest Pentagon-rattling statements were made last month when he told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that the Joint Chiefs of Staff system should be changed by removing the chiefs from command duties, a view which apparently runs counter to prevailing opinion in high military circles.

There have been hints this latest testimony might have had some side effects which bear on Gavin's decision to retire.

During World War II, he frequently roamed the front lines with forward patrols carrying a carbine.

His early life gave little promise of a spectacular military future. He spent his early childhood in Brooklyn and Mt. Carmel, Pa. Orphaned as an infant, he took the name of the family that adopted him. He enlisted in the Army before completing high school.

While in service, he taught him-

Chennault Planning Hospital Checkup

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Retired U. S. Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, leader of the famed World War II Flying Tigers, is leaving Formosa today for a checkup in Walter Reed Hospital.

Chennault, 67, disclosed before Christmas that he is suffering from cancer of the left lung and that no surgery is possible.

Chennault has been in Taipei since Dec. 13 on business connected with Civil Air Transport Co., of which he is chairman.

self enough to win appointment to West Point, and he was graduated in 1929. Although his branch was infantry, he showed an early interest in aviation, and wrote dramatic chapters of airborne history in World War II by parachuting with his men of the 82nd Airborne Division in Sicily, Salerno and Holland.

At 37, he was a major general, one of the youngest officers ever to hold that rank.

He was called to the Pentagon in 1949, and in 1955 was picked for the new post of chief of research and development.

Twice married, Gavin is the father of five daughters. He lives with his family at nearby Ft. Myer, Va.

Americans have had bottled carbonated soft drinks for the past 150 years. Dr. Benjamin Sillman, professor of chemistry at Yale University, was the first to bottle the effervescent waters in this country.

3 Rebel Generals Finally Cleared

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Three Confederate generals have been cleared of 96-year-old treason and conspiracy charges here. The indictments were returned in 1862. They popped up last November wedged in a cranny behind an old filing cabinet workmen were moving out of the Warren County courthouse. The indictments named Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, who later became Kentucky governor; Maj. Gen. John Hunt Morgan, leader of Morgan's Raiders; and Maj. Gen. John C. Breckinridge, elected vice president in 1856 under James Buchanan.

Browns' Brown Sweeps Honors In Poll of Pros

4 Top Honors Voted Speedy Fullback; He Tops Team Tally Too

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Brown Cleveland's bulldozing fullback swept the boards in the annual Associated Press poll today, gaining quadruple honors as the player, back and rookie of the year besides getting the most votes on the AP All-Pro team.

The 220-pound musclemen was the only member of the Browns to earn a place on the two-platoon team. San Francisco notched four oerths while Baltimore, Green Bay and the champion Detroit Lions earned three places each.

Brown was named on all 36 ballots of the sports writers covering the NFL campaign. He received votes for the fullback spot and two for left halfback.

Gino Marchetti of Baltimore attracted the second highest total of votes, 35, for an end position on the defensive team. Detroit's gr. t. linebacker Joe Schmidt was next with 34 votes.

He was followed by offensive end Billy Wilson of San Francisco, 33, and Washington's defensive end, Gene Brito, 31.

Eleven players, led by Schmidt and Brito were repeaters from the 1953 All-Pro team. They included tackle Lou Creekmur and halfback Jack Christensen, Detroit; tackle Roosevelt Brown and halfback Frank Gifford, New York; tackle Art Donovan, Baltimore; middle guard Bill George, Chicago Bears; halfback Ollie Matson, Chicago Cardinals; end Billy Howton, Green Bay; and guard Dick Stanfel, Washington.

Brown, who leaped from All America fame at Syracuse University to a regular fullback berth with the Browns in one year, piled up 33 of the 36 votes to wait off with the freshman prize. He also received 19 votes as the outstanding back and was named on 14 ballots as the circuit's No. 1 player.

Senior Bowl Teams Prep For Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A full day of drills in near-freezing weather was planned today for both squads as coaches sought winning combinations of platoon for Saturday's senior bowl football game.

The North and South backfields began to shape up tentatively during the first long outdoor drills Tuesday.

South Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns leaned more to a backfield composed of quarterback George Whitely, Arkansas; halfbacks Dick Chalky, All America from North Carolina State, and Phil King, Vanderbilt; and fullback Jimmy Talor, LSU.

North coach Joe Kuharich of the Washington Redskins had two Michigan State players in his No. 1 backfield—quarterback Jim Ninowski and halfback Walt Kowalczyk. Others in that unit were Mike Sommer, George Washington; and Ray Nitschke, Illinois.

Brown's South team won last year 21-7 to give him a 5-1 Senior Bowl record. Last year was Kuharich's first. The South has won five Senior Bowl games, the North three.

The ninth annual game will be televised by NBC at 3 p. m. EST.

Good Hope Juniors Beat New Holland

Making good use of their height advantage, Good Hope's junior cagers took a 31 to 16 decision from the New Holland juniors at Good Hope Tuesday noon.

The Wayne boys forced the New Hollanders to shoot from the outside and, thus, held 16 per cent of their shots from the field. The Good Hope outfit connected with 28 per cent of their field goal attempts and controlled the boards.

Lineups and individual scoring for the game were:

Good Hope—Reisinger 12, Blizard 2, Forsha 2, Sollars 4, Hatfield 9, Kimball 2 and Newell 6.

New Holland—Bush 1, Bowsler 0, Cochard 0, Bowdie 4, Johns 0, Barry 1, Eckle 8 and Kirk 2.

VIEW OF THINGS TO COME?—Gabe Paul, vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, views the New York skyline from his hotel window—what some say is a prelude of things to come. The Redlegs reportedly are interested in moving their franchise to New York now that the Giants and Dodgers have departed. Paul was a member of the special committee which discussed territorial rights. (International)

Numerous Obstacles Face Dodgers in Hunt for Field

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball—someone once said with pithy wisdom—is a game of inches.

No term of measurement could better describe the meager progress made by the Brooklyn Dodgers since they started looking for a place to play in spacious Southern California.

When they left Brooklyn for Los Angeles and announced they wanted to build a magnificent stadium here, they ran into a referendum.

Now they just want to rent a stadium—way out in suburban Pasadena—and they've run into the threat of an initiative.

This state of affairs has prompted the following observation from one member of the Dodger staff: "The situation is getting ridiculous, and what the solution is I frankly don't know."

The latest trouble was brewed by a Pasadena citizens' group that doesn't want the Dodgers in the Rose Bowl, which the team has expressed interest in renting.

At the weekly meeting of the Pasadena City Board of Directors, Atty. Lee G. Paul announced that the Citizens' Committee for the Rose Bowl Municipal Park will circulate initiative petitions in a move to gain passage of an ordinance that would keep professional baseball out of the bowl.

Paul said a 1923 contract between the city and the Tournament of Roses Assn. provides that the bowl may be used for no more than three regularly scheduled events in any 30-day period, if admission is charged.

Paul said fewer than 3,000 registered voters would have to sign petitions to get the measure on the June ballot.

Said Dodger President Walter O'Malley: "I don't know what this initiative movement means. I believe it is a civic thing and we will continue with our negotiations (with Pasadena city officials)."

In Los Angeles next June voters will approve or reject a contract that would give the team a stadium site in centrally located Chavez Ravine.

Bliss College Chalks 2 Wins In One Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Akron and Defiance posted basketball victories Tuesday, but Bliss College, a Columbus business school, stole the spotlight with something new.

The Bookkeepers, who have only lost once this year, played two games in one night and won them both.

Miami-Jacobs College of Dayton was defeated in the opener, 69-58, and then Cincinnati Bible Seminary became Bliss' 18th victim of the season, 87-58.

Akron had little trouble in defeating Western Reserve, 81-32, in Cleveland.

The Zippers built a 28-4 lead as they roared off to their seventh victory in 10 games. Reserve has won two of seven.

In Defiance, the Yellow Jackets swamped Giffin College, a Van Wert business school, 110-48. Defiance now has a 5-1 record.

Ohio Northern was the only other Ohio team to be in action and it suffered a 59-55 setback at Hillsdale in Michigan.

The Polar Bears now have a 3-3 mark and Hillsdale is 2-8.

NCAA Parley To Be Serene

Rubber-Stamp Action Expected by Group

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—legates to the 52nd NCAA convention climaxed their affairs today with hardly a controversial subject in sight.

Apparently this convention was going to be the most serene since the NCAA entered the rules enforcement field nearly a decade ago. The representatives of some 500 Colleges were expected to vote rubber-stamp approval of the actions and recommendations of the NCAA Council, Television Committee, Infractions Committee and other groups.

The annual business session is the only time NCAA members actually can pass new legislation and vote approval or disapproval of council and committee actions. Their debates have been known to take off on odd tangents.

One possibly debatable subject was listed for discussion though it can't come up for a vote until next year. That was the decision of the NCAA Council to provide a loophole for exempting the Army, Navy and Air Force academies from proposed legislation specifically forbidding subsidized precollege and postgraduate education for athletes.

Army and Navy long have offered preparatory or "cramping" programs to help prospective athletes pass their difficult entrance exams. The Air Force Academy recently started the same sort of thing.

The NCAA Council found no rule specifically prohibiting such practices. Then it prepared one which included a proviso that the service academies may be exempted if the council approves, by a two-thirds vote the prep programs they suggest.

The 110-member Eastern College Athletic Conference has indicated considerable opposition to the waiver.

An anticipated argument over "rec. shirting"—the practice of holding athletes out of competition to prolong their eligibility—failed to develop but probably will come up in the future.

Wilmington Wins Game at Springfield

Wilmington's Hurricane breezed out of the doldrums Tuesday night and evened its seasonal record at 4-4 by dropping powerful Springfield Catholic, 62-40, at Springfield.

Steve Rainer set the pace for the Clinton County squad with 32 points—the only man on his team to make double figures.

Holding a scant one-point edge at the end of the first quarter, stretched it to seven points by the half, and pushed all the way up to 23-point margin in the third quarter. Their victory margin was 22 points.

Though it improves the overall record, Tuesday's victory does nothing for Wilmington's South central Ohio League record, which remains at 2-1.

Hart Is Favored In Baker Match

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Hart, who has scored 19 knockouts in winning 22 fights, is an 11-5 favorite tonight to defeat Larry Baker in another phase of the "welterweight" stakes.

Baker, 26, from Mount Vernon, N. Y., is ranked the No. 8 contender by the National Boxing Assn. His record is 21-11-3 with nine kayoes.

Hart, 21-year-old Philadelphia, has a No. 9 ranking after coming along fast with only three losses and a draw in 26 starts. He was a national AAU champion before turning pro in 1954.

Mad Anthony's Lose, 61 to 37, At Jackson

Turnovers and near-misses by Good Hope's Mad Anthony's marked their 61 to 37 defeat at Jackson Township High School in Pickaway County Tuesday night.

The Mad Anthony's had their fast break in high gear—but only up to the time of the shots for the basket. They hit only 34 per cent of their shots from the field and very few of them were the climax of their fast break.

The Jackson boys, on the other hand, not only controlled both boards on rebounds, but also connected with 38 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Each team got 11 points from the foul line.

Bonecutter, with six field goals, and 15 points, set the pace for the Good Hope outfit.

It was definitely a "off" night for the Mad Anthony's; that was evident from the start, when they trailed 16-8 at the end of the first period.

The defeat was the ninth of the season for the Mad Anthony's, who have only two wins. One of those victories, however, was an 80-46 triumph over the Madison Mills Warriors in the Fayette County League. It was the Warriors who upset the title-contending Bulldogs of Bloomingburg, 52-43, on Dec. 20.

But all was not lost for the Good Hope fans at Jackson Tuesday night. The reserves took a decisive 45 to 21 decision in the preliminary game.

Texas Cager Chalks Up 75 Points during Tilt

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Jan Loudermilk racked up 75 points Tuesday night in leading Big Spring High School to a 109-53 victory over Odessa High.

The 17-year-old star, 6-6 and weighing 215 dropped in 31 field goals and 13 free throws. He scored 46 points in the last half. It ran his 19-game total this season to 469, not far short of the 530 he tallied last season. Big Spring has 9 more games to play.

Fine Weather Due For Crosby Show

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Clear weather, sometimes a stranger at Bing Crosby's golfing clambake, was expected to put in a full appearance this weekend as the Crooner stages his show.

The weatherman didn't come right out and say definitely and positively it would be sunny and bright from Thursday through Sunday for the $50,000 tournament, but he reported "a good chance the weather will be good."

The last few years have seen wild and rain through at least portions of the clambake.

Myers Has Spotlight In Texas A&M Hunt

DALLAS (AP)—Jim Myers of Iowa State, a single wing tylist with only a year's head coaching experience, was the man of the moment today in Texas A&M's search for a new football coach.

But Aggie officials, possibly frustrated by the widely-publicized hunt, kept their own counsel and wouldn't say whether the dual post of coach and athletic director was offered Myers.

Boating Industry Awestruck By Own Mushrooming Gains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

During the next couple of months the fellows who among them have put some 35 million Americans afloat during the past few years will be hiring halls to show what's new in small boat recreation.

And what's new is calculated not only to keep 25 million Americans interested but to keep them embarking on every navigable waterway available at the current rate. Weekend voyagers put 300,000 new boats into service last year, twice that many new outboard motors.

The figures were drawn from industry sources who sometimes seem to be awestruck by their own mushrooming statistics. The charge of the multitudes toward water hasn't been matched since the repeal of the Volstead Act, when the trend was the other way.

Part of the secret is hinted in some astonishing associated statistics that show the romance with boats fitted in with the average American's first love, the automobile. In 1947, only 3,790 trailers designed to haul small boats on the highway were sold in the U. S.; last year the sales reached 151,000.

The wares scheduled for display in coming boat shows around the country range from 40-foot ocean going cruisers to 6-foot water scooters, with some 400 manufacturers of major and minor marine items joining in one show or another.

First of the big expositions is the New York show Jan. 17-26. Biggest of them all is the Chicago National Boat Show Feb. 7-16.

The other of the big three is the San Francisco show, Feb. 28-March 9.

Emphasis this year will remain on boating as an all-family recreation through adaptable utility equipment. Many new boats are in the 14-17 foot runabout class designed to do duty as family cruisers, fishing craft and water ski tow boats. Many feature safety and convenience changes including wide beam, higher freeboard, self bailing motor wells and reinforced transoms.

In 149 games Hoak hit .293, drove in 89 runs and hit 19 homers.

In receiving the "most valuable" trophy, Hoak said: "If it hadn't been for those other Redlegs this couldn't have happened to me."

Ex-School Marm Is Head Of Ohio Liquor Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A woman again heads Ohio's powerful Liquor Control Board.

She is Miss Esther R. Hardy of Fremont, former school principal and Republican state representative of Sandusky County for three terms.

Gov. C. William O'Neill appointed Miss Hardy to head the four-member board after the recent resignation of Robert R. Koch, Van Wert Democrat, as chairman. Koch remained on the bi-partisan board.

Miss Hardy is the second woman chairman in the board's history. The first was the late Mrs. Maude McQuate of Cleveland.

The attractive new chairman seldom is at a loss for words until asked about her age. She flashes a friendly smile and her dark brown eyes dance as she turns the question aside with a toss of her dark hair streaked with grey.

She talks about her teaching career that began at the age of 17 in a country school.

"I got paid a salary of $40 a month and an extra $2.50 for being my own janitor. And I was a better janitor than school teacher," she laughs.

Later she became a classroom teacher and for 25 years was principal of Hayes Elementary School in Fremont.

"One Sunday I decided to run for the Legislature," she recalls. Elected for three consecutive two-year terms she was appointed to the liquor board by former Gov. Frank J. Lausche for a four-year term during her last year in the House of Representatives. O'Neill reappointed her to the board last April.

As chairman, Miss Hardy will receive $6,500 a year. Board members draw $6,000 annually. Besides Koch, they are E. G. Schuessler of Columbus and James Donnelly of Cleveland. Schuessler and Koch are attorneys.

The board, a quasi-judicial body, makes regulations for Ohio's 220 million dollar a year liquor monopoly system. It conducts hearings for violators and considers appeals from liquor department decisions on license applications. Board decisions are subject to appeal to the courts.

Miss Hardy expects to rely on board attorneys for decisions on strictly legal questions but asserts there usually is a human side to most issues.

"They tell me to use common sense," she said. "The legal side must be maintained but you also must consider the human side. We are serving the people as well as the state. We will see that the liquor laws are carried out in the best interests of all the people."

"The liquor business is legal in Ohio. Board members should not let their personal feelings on the wet and dry issue influence their judgment in deciding cases before them."

Last year the board heard about 1,800 citations for violation of liquor laws. It has the power to suspend or revoke licenses but not to impose fines or regulations. Members have the power to suspend or revoke licenses but not to impose fines as is done in courts for violations of state laws and city ordinances.

Miss Hardy explained that suspension of a liquor permit for only a few weeks often meant more to a tavern operator in lost revenue than fines imposed by courts.

"At present, liquor regulation enforcement is better than at any time since I have been on the board," she observed. "Liquor agents are doing a better job in preparing their evidence against violators. Without sufficient evidence, we have to dismiss charges," she added.

She emphasized that enforcement primarily is up to local officials. Permit fees collected by the state are returned to local subdivisions and are available for enforcement operations, she pointed out.

Kentucky Income Tax Cut Asked by Chandler

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky told the opening of the State Legislature that despite a record budget which he is asking for the next two years, he wants the state's personal income tax cut.

The governor said his proposal would "entitle everyone to have a share" in the two-million-dollar tax cut made possible, he said, by Kentucky's solid economic outlook and a treasury surplus.

Pork Men Complete Plans For Annual Meeting Monday

Plans were completed at the monthly meeting of the Pork Producers Assn. Tuesday evening at Anderson's Drive-In for the annual meeting of the association and all hog producers to be held Monday Jan. 13, at 8 p. m. in the Farm Bureau Auditorium.

Directors hope that a large number of hog farmers of the county will attend this meeting. Hogs bring in nearly 50 per cent of gross agricultural income on the farms in Fayette County which is the ranking hog county in the state.

The association has arranged what they think is an outstanding program including slides to be shown on European pork production by W. H. Bruner specialist at Ohio State University, who with 15 other people from the Corn Belt toured Europe in August.

Other features of the program will include a report of the All-Ohio Pork Council's trip to the International Livestock Show, Miss Gloria Cleland, Bloomingburg, is the queen.

A PANEL consisting of Dr. D. E. Mossbarger, Howard Collins of the Englehorn Packing Co., Lloyd Conover of the Dayton Power and Light Co., and Bruner and Herbert Barnes of Ohio State University, will discuss swine diseases, feed management and marketing. W. W. Montgomery, county agent, will moderate the panel.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and directors from Concord, Marion, Madison, Jasper and Paint townships will be chosen.

At the meeting Tuesday evening a committee was named to revise the constitution which will be presented at the annual meeting. Members appointed on the committee were A. R. Rankin, Harry Craig and Homer Wilson.

Hot roast pork loin sandwiches, doughnuts, pickles, potato chips and coffee will be served at the meeting. Members of the refreshment committee are Howard McDonald and Dustin Gorton.

THE ASSOCIATION voted a $5.00 membership in the Ohio Com-

Enumerators Start Work on Rural Guide

Canvassing work on the third edition of the Fayette County Directory begins this week under the direction of Arthur Schultz of Rural Directories, Inc., Toledo.

A crew of enumerators, authorized to accept orders for copies of the directory, start this week on the house-to-house survey of all the rural area in the county. Mail-cards will be left for those not at home when the canvassers call. Residents supplying the information and returning the cards will be helping materially in completing the survey.

THE COMPANY makes routine checks, by mail, to be sure the survey cards are free from error. If there is any question concerning the spelling, phone number, or other information, a letter is sent to confirm it. Prompt replies to this correspondence greatly increase the book's accuracy.

Enumerators will ask the family name, the first names of husband and wife, mailing address, phone exchange, acres owned or rented, occupation or types of farming and number of children.

342 X-rays In Two Days

During the first two days the mobile unit has been in Fayette County, 342 persons got their free chest X-rays. Mrs. George Finley, executive secretary of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Assn., said Wednesday morning.

The unit will be in the county seven more days. It was brought here through the co-operative planning of the TB Assn. and the state and county health departments.

The unit was in Waterloo Tuesday morning, where 24 came in for X-rays and in the afternoon it was at the Cuddey Packing Co. plant in Washington C. H., where 93 more got their X-rays.

These 117 added to the 225 who got them Monday, while the unit was at the Pennington Bakery, brought the two-day total to 342.

Mrs. Finley said she felt the response had been "very good in view of the cold weather."

Wednesday morning the unit was set up at the National Cash Register Co. plant and in the afternoon it was moved to the Armco plant.

Starting Thursday, the unit will be on Court St. in front of the courthouse for the next five days.

Armco Takes Top Honor in Forbes Survey

MIDDLETOWN — Armco Steel Corp. has taken top honors in Forbes' Magazine's 1957 "Yardsticks of Management" survey of the 10 major steel companies in the United States.

The latest Forbes rating is the third consecutive one in which Armco has led the steel industry. The tenth annual industrial survey issue reported the business magazine's judgment of how well the managements of the nation's largest steel companies have been using the facilities and finances available to them.

ALL COMPANIES were rated on how efficiently they have used the funds borrowed to pay for expansion programs, how expansion has strengthened each company, how successful each company has been in earning a profit, and how much money each company has plowed back into the business in relation to funds paid to shareholders in dividends.

Armco led the steel industry with a Forbes Management Rating of 95 out of a possible 100. No other steel producer matched this figure, and of 198 companies in 21 major industries surveyed by Forbes, no other company topped Armco's rating.

State Board of Education To Hear Pickaway County Transfer Petitions

CIRCLEVILLE — Three petitions for Pickaway County School district transfers are currently before the Ohio State Board of Education. They were filed by New Holland, Wayne Township and a group of Washington Township residents.

Hearings on the three transfer petitions are scheduled for late this month or early February.

All three petitions were presented to the Pickaway County Board of Education prior to November 1 and subsequently were refused by the board and sent to the state board for final action.

The December issue of the state boards publication "News Letter" has a statement on policy and procedure in school transfer cases.

In general, the state board will assume that all petitions filed by county boards are valid.

IN ADDITION, the state board will look favorably on petitions where some of the following conditions prevail:

Where the transfer is from a district which maintains a program of less than 12 grades to a district which maintains a satisfactory program of instruction in grades 1 through 12.

Where the transfer is from a district not considered a permanent school center for grades 1 through 12 inclusive, to a district which is considered a permanent school center.

Where the children of school age residing in the territory asking transfer have been attending the school for a considerable period of time on a tuition basis in the district to which the transfer is asked.

However, consideration will be given to the desirability of maintaining consolidated school districts which have recently been created by county boards in an effort to establish permanent school districts.

WHERE the proposed transfer would correct discrepancies in continuity of boundaries or tend to make district boundary lines more regular.

Where the proposed transfer would assist in the elimination of duplication of transportation routes. Where the per-pupil valuation of the territory to be transferred is fairly comparable to the per-pupil valuation of the district from which the territory is to be transferred. Where, if a school building is involved in the territory to be transferred, the building in question is not needed by other students who will not be transferred.

THE PARTIES involved in the transfer are to appear before a committee of the Department of Education for the hearing, which will be at the state board office.

At the time of the conference the department committee will request each side to furnish a list of not more than three speakers who are to present each case.

Representatives of groups favoring the transfer will be given 30 minutes to present their case with a limit of three speakers. The group opposed will be given 30 minutes also, with a limit of three speakers.

Then 10 minutes of summary will be allowed each side.

FOLLOWING the conference, the committee will take the matter under advisement and will report later its conclusions to the Superintendent of Public Instruction Edward E. Holt.

The decision of the committee or Holt will not be announced until Holt makes his recommendations to the state board of education.

New Holland is seeking transfer to the Miami Trace District in Fayette County. Wayne Township is seeking transfer to Circleville City School District and a portion of Washington Township also seeks transfer to the city school system.
